As you continue, the valley opens up to impressive views of limestone cliffs and winter waterfalls. The Peričnik Waterfall, often partially frozen during winter, marks the end of the route and creates a striking alpine landscape.

- Distance: approx. 4–4.25 km one way (approx. 8.5 km round trip)
- Elevation gain: approx. 120 m (easy)
- Duration: approx. 2:15–3:00 h round trip + 1 hour at the Slovenian Alpine Museum (total approx. 4 hours)
- Difficulty: Easy, non-technical; winter conditions may include snow and ice
